The Columbian Magazine for November has been received. It is filled as usual with a variety of entertaining matter—two superb engravings—one of which representing in ancient time. Moses sending the flock in the wilderness to procure water for the Israelites.

Rev. Charles O. Kimball, a Baptist minister, has been tried before an ecclesiastical council in Boston; and proof being exhibited that for several years he had been guilty of gross indecencies, he was deposed from the ministerial office, and the fellowship of the church withdrawn from him.

The New York Express says that "Flour has fallen within the past week from $5 75 to $5 37. Many of the small men with small means who went into the market anticipating a rise, have been forced to sell and pocket the loss." So much for speculating.

During the last nine months over ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND FOREIGNERS have taken up their residence in the United States!

Two abolitionists only have been chosen as Representatives in this State, viz: Mr. Oak in Garland, Penobscot Co. and Mr. Lawson, in the Troy district, Waldo Co.

The publisher of the Norway Advertiser says he should be glad of a little Corn from some of his subscribers. We say ditto to some of ours, and a little Wheat too.

ENGINE No. 1—FOX-CROFT. What has become of the Engine that the citizens of Foxcroft purchased a year or two since for the benefit of the village? Something like 60 or 70 dollars was paid for it. What benefit has been derived from the use of it? How many fires has it extinguished? What order is it now in, in case of fire? What house now shelters it from storms, &c.?—(the canopy of heaven we answer) Does the Engine Company now exist? How many hooks and ladders have the company in their possession? and are they in good order, ready at a moment's warning in case of fire? Supposing some of those large dwellings in Foxcroft should take fire, what means have you to extinguish it? Your engine is good for nothing! your hooks and ladders where are they? Citizens of Foxcroft village, these things ought not so to be.

MORTUARY CHAMBER. In order to guard against premature interments there is attached to most of the cemeteries in Germany, a hall where the dead remain some time before being committed to the ground. In this hall the body neatly attired, is laid upon a couch—before the lips is placed a mirror which the slightest breath would cloud, and between the fingers a string, which on the slightest movement, causes a bell in the department to ring. This hall is visited night and day hourly by vigilant inspectors, and it is stated, that not a year passes that the bell is not rung by one or more of the supposed corpses.

ANOTHER PHASE OF MILLERISM ON LONG ISLAND. A Jamaica, L. I. papers stated that Millerism has experienced a revival there. One of the preachers lately arrived there, and pretended that he had received an important revelation from Heaven, in relation to the second advent; and insisting that all must "vomit up the devil and his evil works," administered strong emetics to his deluded followers to produce this result. Some of the sisters, however, took so strong a dose that their lives were despaired of, and the fellow was compelled to make good his retreat by flying to the sea-shore, pursued by an enraged mob, and escaped an extra coat of tar and feathers, by getting on board a sloop bound for New York.
